milk production, processing and marketing can only be attained through encouragement and assistance to the formation of commercial oriented dairy farmers association. This process may enhance participation of the target groups. Dairy processing plant has not achieved its objectives and targets in promoting raw milk processing. Dairy producers and consumers in Osamanbad have yet to benefit from this important establishment.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

1. Chakravarthy and Reddy- Dairy Development Programme, process and impact as study at village level. J. Of rural development PP:5-15
2. Kumar Sharma-1999- Impact of Dairy Co-operative on the rural Economy in Nalanda District-A case study. Indian Co-operative review, XXVI PP:201-208
3. Biradar (1990) Development Co-Operative quarterly, LXXIV PP:60-66
4. Rahane and Yadav (1992) - Role of Milk Project in economic development of rural area- A case study. PP:36-37
5. Tripathi, R.N. Mutaz Thana, O.N. Srivastava, B.K. Thapliyad, D.S. Reddy and F.M. Pradhan (1985) IRDP In South India. An evaluation. National Institute of Rural Development, Rajendranagar, Hyderabad.
6. Rajendra K. and R. Prabhakaran (1993). A study on production, consumption and disposal of milk in Dharmapuri district of Tamilnadu, Indian Journal of Dairy Science : 46(10): 158.
7. Sharma R.K. (1994) : Farmers perception of constraints in milk Marketing and measures for development of efficient extension system for milk marketing in rural area. Indian Journal of Dairy Science. 47(8) : 675679.